Feedback
Health & Wellbeing
- Village Care Schemes

Jon Boswell, Deputy Chief Executive
Bedfordshire Rural Communities Charity
About BRCC

- Founded in 1953
- Around 30 members of staff
- Exists to help communities to do more for themselves
- Wide range of activities including care, housing, transport, community assets, green spaces, training & employment, rural economy
Care Schemes

- Network of 22 schemes across Central Bedfordshire developed and supported by BRCC (with CBC funding)
- Provide easy access to low-level help and support including transport and practical assistance at home
- Some care schemes offer additional services (e.g. home security, fire safety, armchair exercise)
- Entirely staffed by volunteers – over 500 in total
- Nearly 2000 ‘jobs’ per quarter helping over 600 people
- Now expanding into more urban areas including Dunstable, Houghton Regis, Biggleswade and Sandy
Benefits of Care Schemes

- Help vulnerable people to access services and continue living independently in their own homes
- Develop social ties within communities
- Personal satisfaction and skills development for volunteers
- Independent and rooted within communities
- Schemes themselves only require minimal ongoing revenue commitment, plus BRCC support
Setting up a Care Scheme

- Dependent on sufficient willing volunteers
- Is there a need? What else exists?
- Set up a management committee, bank account etc (or alternative arrangement, e.g. DAN)
- £300 start-up grant for insurance, mobile phone etc
- CRB checking for volunteers through BRCC
- Join the Care Scheme Network for ongoing support and networking
How do T&PCs fit in?

- Councillors have often been involved as local residents setting up schemes.
- Many Councils make small financial contribution (e.g. insurance).
- Some Councils contribute officer time (e.g. Flitwick, Houghton Regis) or even co-ordinate the scheme (Dunstable).
Case study

• A gentleman drove with his wife to what they had expected to be just another routine hospital check-up. Instead the gentleman was required to stay in overnight, leaving his wife stranded miles from home with insufficient cash for a taxi. Luckily she was able to call on her local care scheme and a volunteer took her home, also supporting her through her stress and shock. It also meant that her husband did not have to worry about his wife so much and could concentrate on getting well again.
Case Study: Caddington Care

- Launched September 2009, supported by BRCC
- Key local group helping out when entire village lost gas and electricity over Christmas
- Now have 51 active volunteers
- Now trialling beginners’ computer lessons
- “It’s amazing to think that in a village our size there are all these people who need a bit of help, and all these people who are willing to help, and none of us would have ever found each other without the care scheme.” (Caddington Care volunteer)
